FROST IN NEW ENGLAND STATES IS REPORTED

Western High Divides Low and May Give Us Cold Weather Today or Tonight.

The weather forecast for Friday was a correct one. The low pressures which prevailed along the Atlantic coast gave way, the high which hung over the mountain ranges to the east of Salt Lake moved eastward rapidly, forcing its way clear to the coast, the high to the west of Salt Lake forced itself against the low, which was held stationary by the eastern high, and divided it into two storm centers, one of which moved to the north, and the other to the south.

Rains prevailed over Kansas, Dodge City getting a precipitation of .50 of an inch. Duluth had a rainfall of .54 of an inch. Helena, Mont., had a precipitation of .36 of an inch, while Omaha came in for a very heavy rainfall of 1.24 inches. Winnipeg also had a heavy rain, amounting to 1.35 inches. Light frosts were reported throughout the New England States, while temperature changes were slight. Calgary still has a temperature of 28 degrees and Modena, this State, has a temperature of 40 degrees. Northfield, Vt., got some cold weather, the mercury falling to 34, while around Tonopah, Nev., the 28-degree mark was reached.

The showers in this vicinity Saturday night were caused by the presence of the lows to the north and south. It is probable that we will have fair weather for today and tonight, with a chance of rising temperature. It is possible, and even within the range of probability, for the western high to develop a sudden energy and sweep eastward, giving us some very cold weather here for a short period.

The chances may be that the northern low will take an eastward flight and hang over the great lakes, while the southern low will move slowly to the eastward along the Texas district, giving that State precipitations. In case this occurs, the high which is behind and between these lows would hold full away and some snappy weather would result.

CHARGES MADE AGAINST MANAGER TOM SUTTON

Proprietor of Crystal Cafe Accuses Him of Being Short in Accounts.

L. G. Skilris, proprietor of the Crystal cafe, Saturday swore out a warrant for the arrest of Thomas Sutton, manager of the place, on a charge of embezzlement. The amount is fixed at $1000. The charge seems to be based upon certain purchases of supplies claimed to have been made by Sutton, without the knowledge of Skilris. The friends of Sutton who are familiar with his business methods declare the charge ridiculous. They assert that Skilris became unduly alarmed because some of the small accounts of the cafe were somewhat irregularly kept. It is impossible to shake their faith in the honesty and integrity of Tom Sutton.

When seen late Saturday night by a Tribune representative, Mr. Sutton laughed at the report that he was wanted for embezzlement. "My accounts are as they always have been, as straight as a string," he said. "I am prepared to give an accounting for every nickel I have ever handled for Mr. Skilris."

"If it is true that he charges me with any crime whatever, you can say for me that the charge is absolutely without foundation. The receipts for moneys paid out and the supplies on hand will be found to be just what they should be and all the experts on earth cannot show that I am wrong to the amount of a single five-cent piece."

COMING CONVENTION OF FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Four-Day Lecture Course and Practical Demonstration Will Attract Attention.

Undertakers and embalmers over the State of Utah, as well as those of Idaho and Colorado, are looking forward with interest to the meeting of the Utah Funeral Directors' association, which will be held in October in Salt Lake. A large attendance is expected and several matters of great importance have been arranged for.

In connection with and immediately following the sessions of the association, will be a four days' free lecture course by Prof. Eckels and Moll, Eastern experts, who will lecture and demonstrate various methods of embalming and caring for the dead, under the auspices of the Colorado Casket company.

Following this, on October 12, will be the examination held by the State Board of Health for applicants for funeral director's license. This will include not only the applicants from Utah, but those from Idaho as well. Idaho applicants are licensed by the Utah board, owing to the fact that Idaho has no board of health. Colorado applicants who hold licenses from the Colorado Board of Health will be given licenses in Utah without examination, and the same is true of Utah embalmers going to Colorado.

Interesting Programme.

A great deal of interest attaches to this meeting of funeral directors, and the attendance will be a large one. The programme for the four days' lecture course follows:

October 8, 2 p. m.—"Different Manners of Embalming Bodies for Funeral Purposes."
October 9, 10 a. m.—"How to Properly Disinfect the Cavity of the Body Without the Use of the Hollow Needle." 2 p. m.—"Demonstrations on fresh cadavers of the Genuing-Eckels instruments for draining the blood."
October 10, 10 a. m.—"Embalming a Bodies of Children and Consumptives, and the Bodies of Persons Dying of Other Contagious Diseases for Shipping Long Distances, and Embalming for Permanent Preservation." 2 p. m.—"Modern Disinfectants and Their Practical Application by the Undertaker."
October 11, 10 a. m.—"Embalming a Body for Funeral Purposes With a New Fluid." 2 o'clock—"Disinfection for the Contagious and Infectious Diseases as

REFUSES BIG BRIBE TO ABANDON HIS LOVE

Young New Yorker Says He Was Offered $25,000 to Give Up Sweetheart.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Frederick Kiley, a ruddy cheeked youth of 20, private secretary to W. R. Collins, a trustee of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was made his sixth offer by a Wall street broker to give up his attentions to his sweetheart, Miss Clara Thiel of Brooklyn.

The broker, in a telegram, offered the young man $25,000 if he would desert in his attention to his nineteen-year-old fiancée, Miss Thiel, a stenographer, employed by John N. Ryan, also a broker for the Equitable, whose office adjoins that of Mr. Collins.

Young Kiley said: "I was first approached by the broker, whom I understand is worth in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, about three months ago. At that time he promised me if I would give up Clara he would give me $100 a week, take me to Europe with him for two years and show me the world. Next he offered me a lump sum of $5000. I telephoned to the broker and told him to discontinue his efforts or I should bring suit against him. Then I got this telegram."

"Frederick Kiley, 128 Broadway—Make it $25,000; wait answer."

"WILSON."

Miss Thiel said: "I met the man who has been following me so assiduously about a year ago. He has proposed marriage to me, but I have always refused him."

Now Applied by the City Health Authorities.

October 12, 10 a. m.—"Demonstration by Prof. H. S. Eckels of proper embalming."
